1. Welcome

Mr. Seidenstein welcomed all participants to the February 8, 2022, IAASB videoconference. Mr. Seidenstein also welcomed Messrs. Edge and Prof. Maroun to their first meeting as Board members and also welcomed the new TA's to the Board, Ms. Lange who will support Mr. Prof. Maroun and Diane Hardesty who will be supporting Ms. Larsen going forward. He then also welcomed the public observers who were observing the meeting via the IAASB's YouTube channel.

Mr. Seidenstein specifically welcomed Ms. Tokar, Mr. Rees and Ms. Suzuki who joined the session to update the IAASB on the IASB's recent consultation on its work plan and other relevant significant projects of the International Accounting standards Board (IASB).

2. IASB Update

Ms. Tokar, Mr. Rees and Ms. Suzuki provided a technical update specifically focused on items that could affect the work of the IAASB. Among various topics covered, Ms. Tokar updated the Board on the IASB's recent consultation on its future work plan, explaining that there were many possible topics that may be selected once capacity opens up, including going concern. However, she cautioned that the selection of any new topics would depend on circumstances and the needs of the IASB's stakeholders at that time. In addition, the presentation included an update on the formation of the International Sustainability Standards Board (ISSB) under the IFRS Foundation. Several Board members posed questions and shared views with the IASB representatives.

3. PIOB Observer's Closing Remarks

Mr. Hafeman noted that the session was very informative, and highlighted the importance of the two Boards remaining informed about each other's work plan's. He noted that he was pleased that going concern was included within possible future projects and further reiterated the PIOB's support for inclusion of a project on going concern as part of the IASB's work plan.

4. Closing

Mr. Seidenstein thanked the IASB presenters, IAASB Members, TAs, and Staff and closed the meeting.

5. Next Meeting

The next IAASB meeting will be held via hybrid meeting where participants can join the meeting in-person or via several videoconferences between March 14–23, 2022.
